The Mayor's UPDATE

Job One: Create Jobs!

Our City's economy is challenged. Our country is in a financial crisis. It's time for bold action. In my State of the City Address, www.hartford.gov I called for accelerating construction projects and creating an Arts

Stimulus to generate jobs for our residents. I want to hear your thoughts. Do you think this is a good way to keep Hartford on the right path?

Email me at Mayor@hartford.gov.

Hartford has several "shovel ready" projects eligible for federal stimulus money. Follow the progress on www.hartford.gov/recovery. I want to put hundreds more of our residents to work in all of our neighborhoods – at good wages and with benefits – building on years of success with our school construction projects. To date, almost 1000 Hartford residents have benefited from this program alone.

Our new Arts and Heritage Jobs Grant will create about 200 new positions in the Capital City. This community is a financial force, attracting thousands of visitors and pumping about $200 million into the local economy. I want to provide an increase of $1.7 million in grants to nonprofit organizations, artists and projects in our City. The grants would help create new works, new performances, and expand facilities. This funding will come from reprogrammed city funds and federal grants. A public hearing was held on April 16th. For more information contact Laura Lopez at llopez@hartford.gov.

My vision prioritizes jobs, public safety, and education and provides essential services to our residents and businesses. By working together, we'll better position ourselves for when our economy recovers.

Sincerely,

CHOICE IS POPULAR!

3 new academies are set to open in August and they are among the most sought after schools in the new Choice Selection Process. This is another clear signal that Hartford Public Schools are moving in the right direction. Last year, 16 schools showed significant academic achievement. Three of our high schools – Classical Magnet, Sport and Medical Sciences, and Capital Prep – are nationally recognized.

Retaining And Creating Jobs Keeps Hartford Competitive!

UnitedHealth Group – more than 2000 city jobs

The Tribune Company – almost 900 jobs

Northeast Utilities Headquarters – 180 jobs

New Business is Good Business!

The Whole 9 Clothing store in Hartford's Northeast neighborhood opened in January, continuing a strong trend of new businesses in the Capital City. Last year, 95 new businesses set up shop.

QUESTION: Where do you read all about it?

Where do you find your community news? Is it online or in the library? Is it at your local community center or place of worship? Is it at your neighborhood salon or barber shop or at the corner coffee shop? Email Sarah Barr, Director of Communications at barrsoo1@hartford.gov.

Gone But Not Forgotten

The late Mayor Mike Peters always reminded us of Hartford's goodness and greatness. He bravely served as a firefighter for more than 22 years and 8 years as Mayor. On April 16th, Engine 15 turned 100 years old and became forever known as the Michael "Mayor Mike" Peters Memorial Fire Station. Go Hartford!
